

NICOLE MARTUCCI, ASSOCIATE

OVERVIEW

Nicole Martucci joined Duffy & Sweeney as a seasoned associate in our litigation team with a focus on business law, real estate and land use, and general commercial litigation. She is known for being a zealous litigator in Federal and State courts and a tireless advocate for her clients outside the courtroom. She is admitted to practice law in Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

Nicole has successfully permitted several major land developments around the State, including both residential and solar developments. She recently assisted in the successful litigation of a land dispute, obtaining a right of way for a small business owner against a former state representative.

Nicole also argued an issue of first impression regarding statutory construction before the Rhode Island Supreme Court and, most recently, she assisted in successfully obtaining legal fees for a client against a State agency for unlawful government action, overturning years of improper state agency practice.

Recognized by Rhode Island Monthly with its Outstanding Women in Business award, Nicole is a member of the Young Leaders Circle of the United Way, the Rhode Island Women's Bar Association, the National Association of Professional Women, and the Associated Builders and Contractors/Rhode Island Chapter.
